President Don Morris
Abilene Christian College
Abilene, Texas

Dear Dr. Morris:

I have just read with pleasure the announcement of Wally Bullington as Abilene Christian College's new Athletic Director. Abilene Christian College, in my judgment, has made a distinct contribution through the years through its sports program. I do not know of another school like Abilene Christian College that gives the attention and places the kind of personnel in its athletic program as do you. This to me speaks a very effective message of Christ's rule over all areas of our lives.

Wally Bullington is a great Christian. You, of course, know this even better than I. I did want to add my encouragement and commendation to the many I am sure you are receiving at this choice.

Abilene Christian College is blessed by decisive leadership like yours. I know the decision took special courage and insight. I believe that future development of young Christian athletes and the encouragement of their continuing contributions throughout the years as coaches and men and women will reveal the quality of this choice.

Fraternally yours,

John Allen Chalk
